Lincoln Office, LLC, Recently Acquired by Locally Owned 360 Holdings

(Washington, Ill.) Lincoln Office, LLC, is under new ownership. Effective March 31, the company – which has provided design, office systems, installation and service for the workplace for over 80 years – was acquired by 360 Holdings, a company founded by the Sauder family in Tremont.

“All employees will remain in their current roles,” Bill Pape, the former owner of Lincoln Office, said, “and I will work with the new CEO to help with the transition. It’s important to emphasize that Lincoln Office continues to be a locally owned and managed company, with plans to continue enhancing work spaces as we always have.

Bob Domnick, the former business development director for 360 Holdings, has been named CEO. Prior to his work with 360, Domnick spent 18 years in management for Superior Industries of Morris, Minnesota, a manufacturer of conveyors and processing equipment for the Aggregates & Mining industries.

“I am excited to represent the Sauder family and look forward to continuing the Lincoln Office tradition by bringing a comprehensive portfolio of innovative products and service solutions to our clients in the corporate, education and healthcare markets,” Domnick said.

About 360 Holdings

360 Holdings is an enterprise of the Sauder family of Tremont, Illinois. Gregg and Cindy Sauder manage an array of businesses that center around a grain and dairy farm. From that base, the Sauder family spent 20 years building a successful farm equipment business, Precision Planting, which was sold in 2012. Since then, 360 Holdings has invested in additional businesses, including 360 Yield Center, which is based in Morton, Illinois. The family is committed to this community and investing in businesses that further support growth in this region.

“For the past 25 years, our family has built businesses that, in part, provide a great environment for people to work in – a safe, welcoming and empowering place to work. So the opportunity to help other companies and businesses enhance their workspace is a natural extension of our workplace philosophy. Bill built a terrific business and has an excellent team. We are honored to be able to be part of it,” Gregg Sauder said.
